MIS Director Adam Bowling is leaving ISL after six years of service

Adam Bowling is leaving the Indiana State Library after six years of service to become IT Manager at Emmis Communications in Indianapolis. Adam began as MIS Director at the Indiana State Library in August 2008, at which time he also assumed the role of Evergreen Indiana technical coordinator.

“I’m excited about my new job and company, but there’s a lot about the library I’m going to miss. I’ve had the opportunity to interact with many great co-workers, as well as fantastic people across the state in libraries large and small. The toughest part is going to be parting from the ISL MIS staff. I’ve never worked with a better group of people than the assembly of talent we have now. I hope I get the chance to work with people on par with them in the future. I’d like to thank everyone who has supported Evergreen Indiana, MIS, and me over these years. It’s been touching to hear from so many folks who reached out to me upon hearing of my departure.”

The Digital Shift: Libraries @ the Center FREE Virtual Conference

Library Journal and School Library Journal are hosting the 5th annual virtual conference. This day-long conference will focus on the digital future of libraries in the evolving digital landscape. The Digital Shift: Libraries @ the Center conference gives you the ability to attend a national library conference from your desktop computer, laptop, tablet, or mobile device.

Topics that will be covered are as follows:

- How can libraries adapt and adopt emerging technologies and tools, new ways of learning, and the evolving publishing ecosystem?
- How can libraries meet the 21st century needs of children and young adults?
- How will libraries continue to be at the center of their communities?

View the full schedule of events, and register for the FREE virtual conference which includes three months to the event archives, as well as on-demand presentations, and access to all the handouts.

This virtual conference is considered a webinar, which makes it eligible for LEU’s. Please follow the Policy on LEUs for in-house courses and webinars.

Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology Homework Hotline now open

The Rose-Hulman Institute of Technology's Homework Hotline is open for the 2014/2015 school year. Students who need tutoring in math or science are encouraged to call the toll free number 1-877-ASK-ROSE (1-877-275-7673) to speak directly to a tutor, or submit their questions through the real-time chat service.

The Homework Hotline website offers students learning resources, test prep practice, and study tips for a variety of math and science topics, based on Indiana Academic Standards. To view these fantastic resources visit the Students page on their website.

The Hotline hours of operation are Sundays through Thursdays from 7:00 PM to 10:00 PM (Eastern Time) now through May 2015.

PastPerfect Workshop being offered at the New Albany-Floyd County Public Library

On September 19th Joan Hostetler and John Harris of Historic Photo and Research Services will be at the New Albany-Floyd County Public library to give a half day introductory level workshop on how museums and libraries can use the content management software Past Perfect to catalog and share their historic collections with their community.

Used by over 9000 museums and libraries, Past Perfect is affordable, comprehensive, and easy to use. Starting at $696 and easily customizable, Past Perfect is an affordable option for small libraries and museums to start working on digital projects.

Heritage Photo & Research Services has been working on Past Perfect projects for many years. Most recently they just finished an IMLS grant in which they digitized and cataloged over 7,000 photographs from the collection of the New Albany-Floyd County Public Library for inclusion into an online database that was created using PastPerfect Online.

Please contact Matt Eidem, Archivist, New Albany - Floyd
