Severe Weather Awareness PSAs

60sec

Spring brings the threat of severe weather. Historically, some of Indiana's most catastrophic weather incidents have occurred during these months.

Planning and preparation help minimize the number of weather related deaths and injuries. It's not a matter of if you should prepare, but how quickly will you be ready?

All Hoosiers who are able must join the effort to be prepared. The Indiana Department of Homeland Security strongly recommends taking time to make sure you and your family are prepared for the severe thunderstorms, tornadoes and flooding which commonly accompany springtime in Indiana.

Always have enough food, water, medicine and other supplies to sustain you and your household for at least three days.

Be alert to developing weather situations with an all hazards radio, and have an evacuation plan in case you need to leave your home quickly.

Remember, most homeowners insurance policies do not cover flood damage, so you may want to consider purchasing flood insurance.
