

Protect Energy Savings for Hoosiers

Dear Commissioners,

Hoosiers need common sense solutions to protect energy savings for families struggling to pay their utility bills. As commissioners tasked with overseeing Utility Energy Savings Plans (DSM Filings), I am asking you to ensure utilities aren't allowed to collect unlimited lost revenues and that the benefits of Energy Savings Programs go directly to the consumers, who should see real savings on their bills as a result of utility-run programs.

Indiana households are wasting more energy than households in neighboring states. In fact, the average Hoosier residential customer is using 30% more energy each month than a home in Illinois. We need strong Energy Savings Programs that can reduce monthly bills and reduce the need for large capital expenditures in aging infrastructure.

Protect Energy Savings for Hoosiers

Dear Commissioners,

Hoosiers need common sense solutions to protect energy savings for families struggling to pay their utility bills. As commissioners tasked with overseeing Utility Energy Savings Plans (DSM Filings), I am asking you to ensure utilities aren't allowed to collect unlimited lost revenues and that the benefits of Energy Savings Programs go directly to the consumers, who should see real savings on their bills as a result of utility-run programs.

Indiana households are wasting more energy than households in neighboring states. In fact, the average Hoosier residential customer is using 30% more energy each month than a home in Illinois. We need strong Energy Savings Programs that can reduce monthly bills and reduce the need for large capital expenditures in aging infrastructure.

Protect Energy Savings for Hoosiers

Dear Commissioners,

Hoosiers need common sense solutions to protect energy savings for families struggling to pay their utility bills. As commissioners tasked with overseeing Utility Energy Savings Plans (DSM Filings), I am asking you to ensure utilities aren't allowed to collect unlimited lost revenues and that the benefits of Energy Savings Programs go directly to the consumers, who should see real savings on their bills as a result of utility-run programs.

Indiana households are wasting more energy than households in neighboring states. In fact, the average Hoosier residential customer is using 30% more energy each month than a home in Illinois. We need strong Energy Savings Programs that can reduce monthly bills and reduce the need for large capital expenditures in aging infrastructure.

Protect Energy Savings for Hoosiers

Dear Commissioners,

Hoosiers need common sense solutions to protect energy savings for families struggling to pay their utility bills. As commissioners tasked with overseeing Utility Energy Savings Plans (DSM Filings), I am asking you to ensure utilities aren't allowed to collect unlimited lost revenues and that the benefits of Energy Savings Programs go directly to the consumers, who should see real savings on their bills as a result of utility-run programs.

Indiana households are wasting more energy than households in neighboring states. In fact, the average Hoosier residential customer is using 30% more energy each month than a home in Illinois. We need strong Energy Savings Programs that can reduce monthly bills and reduce the need for large capital expenditures in aging infrastructure.

Dear Commissioners,

Hoosiers need common sense solutions to protect energy savings for families struggling to pay their utility bills. As commissioners tasked with overseeing Utility Energy Savings Plans (DSM Filings), I am asking you to ensure utilities aren't allowed to collect unlimited lost revenues and that the benefits of Energy Savings Programs go directly to the consumers, who should see real savings on their bills as a result of utility-run programs.

Indiana households are wasting more energy than households in neighboring states. In fact, the average Hoosier residential customer is using 30% more energy each month than a home in Illinois. We need strong Energy Savings Programs that can reduce monthly bills and reduce the need for large capital expenditures in aging infrastructure.
