SURVEY

H.E.A. 1001 Juvenile Jurisdiction Judicial Officers and Probation Officers

The Regional HEA 1001 Juvenile Jurisdiction Judicial Officers and Probation Officers Trainings are quickly approaching. A list of preliminary topics has been generated to include the information that is critical to the processes that will take effect on January 1, 2009.

These topics include:

- Permanency Hearings and their role in the delinquency process.
- Permanency options.
- General IV-E information, including that which is needed to process payment for placement.
- Required Court Order language.
- Plea agreement process.
- Appeals process.
- DCS Service Consultants, their role and the importance of communication and information exchange.
- Pre-Dispositional Reports and other information required for submission to the Services Consultants.
- Case Plans, with examples.
- Independent Living Skills services.
- Residential Placements and their place on the continuum of graduated sanctions.
- Process for recommending out-of-state placements.

Though this list covers many of the significant issues that pertain to Probation, it is not exhaustive. As such, we ask that you take a few moments of your time and list any of the areas of concern or questions that you may have regarding HEA 1001 and its impact on the Probation community. Every effort will be made to address these additional areas of concern or questions as time permits at the Regional HEA 1001 Trainings.

Please list any areas of concern or questions that any members of your court/department have regarding HEA 1001:
