Re: SEA 295 (2020), Amendment to IC 20-30-5-23 - Computer Science (CS) Report

Background

Just five years ago, fewer than 25% of Indiana's schools offered a single computer science course. Today, thanks to Hoosier educators and partners across the state -- and thanks to the leadership of the Indiana General Assembly -- Indiana is the top state in the Midwest and one of the top states in the country for CS in schools.¹

The Indiana Department of Education is required (per IC 20-30-5-23) to prepare an annual report on statewide school progress in the implementation of high school CS courses.

This report includes data highlighting the number and percentage of unique computer science enrollments and course completions. This data is disaggregated by student groups including race, gender, grade, ethnicity, English language proficiency status, free or reduced lunch status, and special education eligibility. This report also includes data on CS instructors.

Thank you for your work to help make Indiana a national leader in CS education!
