

Indiana Department of Environmental Management 2023 Annual Compliance Report for Indiana Public Water Supply Systems

Introduction

The 1996 Amendments to the Safe Drinking Water Act require each state to prepare an annual report of violations of the national primary drinking water regulations for public water supplies. The annual reports are intended to provide a summary of violations of maximum contaminant levels (MCL's), treatment techniques, variances and exemptions¹, and monitoring and reporting violations (M&R). This report includes information for the time period January 1, 2023 through December 31, 2023.

Public Water Supply Information

Graph 1. Number and Type of Public Water Systems in Indiana

Approximately 3,915 active public water systems supply water in Indiana. Graph 1 shows the distribution of public water systems by the system type. Drinking water in Indiana comes from ground water sources via wells or surface water sources such as lakes and rivers. Some public water systems purchase water from other public water supplies and distribute the water to their customers. Ninety-seven percent (97%) of all public water systems are served by ground water systems. However, only fifty-six percent (56%) of the total population is served by systems utilizing ground water.

Drinking Water Monitoring Requirements

The Safe Drinking Water Act and the Indiana Public Water Supply Supervision Program mandate the monitoring and reporting of various bacteriological and chemical contaminants that may be found in drinking water. The contaminants are categorized as total coliform, nitrate (NO₃), inorganic chemicals (IOCs), volatile organic compounds (VOCs), synthetic organic compounds (SOCs), radionuclides (Rads), lead and copper (Pb/Cu), and Stage 1 and Stage 2 disinfectants/disinfection byproducts (D/DBPs) Rules. The levels of these contaminants in drinking water are compared to maximum contaminant levels (MCLs) which are set by the Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) and adopted by the State, to ensure that water is safe for human consumption. In addition, compliance results may trigger additional actions, such as source water monitoring under the Ground Water Rule (GWR) or public education for lead. See Table 2 on page 5 for a list of MCLs and action levels for all of the regulated contaminants.

Surface water systems are also required to comply with additional provisions of the Safe Drinking Water Act which deal with surface water treatment. These regulations pertain to treatment techniques that require systems to properly treat their water. When a surface water PWS fails to properly treat its water or cannot control the levels of such contaminants as turbidity, bacteria, viruses, or parasitic microorganisms the system has violated the provisions of the Safe Drinking Water Act and is assigned a treatment technique (TT) violation. Surface water systems are also required to sample for Cryptosporidium and/or E. coli under the Long Term 2 Enhanced Surface Water Treatment Rule (LT2) to determine if additional treatment is required to remove Cryptosporidium.

If a system has an MCL or TT violation, that system becomes a priority for follow-up by the Drinking Water Branch to ensure the violation is corrected.

Violation Summary

Table 1 provides a summary of the number of MCL, M&R, and TT violations for all of the regulated drinking water contaminants for the 2023 calendar year (January 1, 2023 - December 31, 2023). The table also provides a summary of the number of systems in violation for each contaminant group.

* This number represents the total number of systems in violations for 2023. However, this number includes some systems with multiple violations across contaminant groups.

An evaluation of the data in 2023 Annual Compliance Report (ACR) shows the in-compliance rates at about seventy-five percent (75%) for monitoring and reporting (M/R) violations, ninety-nine percent (99%) for MCLs, and ninety-three percent (93%) for TT violations. The majority of violations are related to failing to collect and/or report samples. Approximately twenty-five percent (25%) of the total number of active water systems have sampling (M/R) violations for at least one contaminant, but more than half of those systems (55%) are transient public water systems with M/R violations for TCR/RTCR.

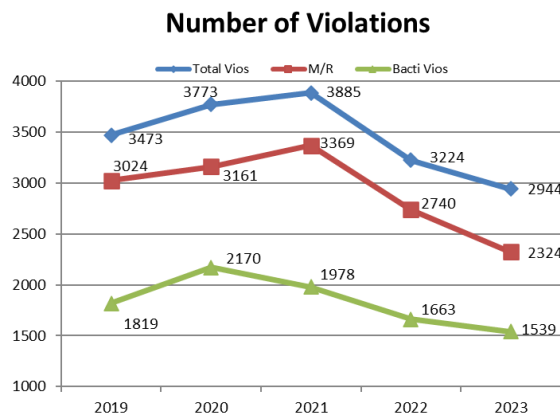

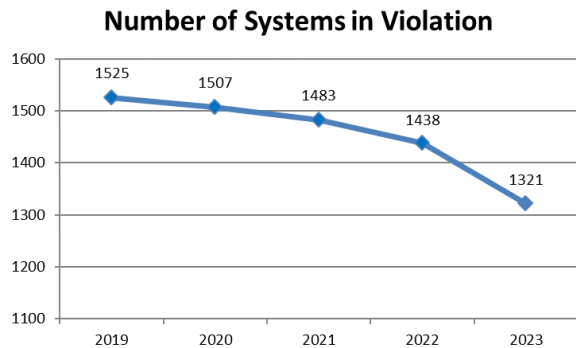

The total number of systems with violations continued to decrease in 2023 due to IDEM's mandated electronic submission of sample results and continued focus on improving compliance statewide. Although there were increases in the number of systems with violations for Pb/Cu and DBP's, there was only a slight percentage increase in each: Pb/Cu increased by two and sixty-nine hundredths percent (2.69%) and DBP's increased by fifty-five hundredths percent (0.55%) from the previous year in relation to the number of systems required to sample. RTCR violations make up the majority of all violations due to having the greatest recurring monitoring frequency. The following charts illustrate these trends:

Continuous educational outreach and concentrated compliance assistance efforts made by IDEM staff have resulted in the continued decrease in amount of RTCR violations as illustrated here:

A key indicator of the quality of the drinking water is the Community Water Systems' (CWSs) populations meeting current health-based standards. IDEM and EPA Region 5 agreed on a strategic plan with shared goals including tracking the percentage of population served by CWSs that meets current health-based standards. During 2023, the percentage was measured quarterly and the average for the four (4) quarterly results was ninety-nine and sixty-seven hundredths percent (99.67%) of the population served by CWSs in Indiana meets all health standards.

Consumer Confidence Reports

All community public water systems are required to develop and distribute to their customers a brief annual water quality report called a consumer confidence report (CCR). The community water system is required to deliver a copy of the CCR to its consumers by July 1st. The purpose of the report is to inform and educate customers on the status and quality of their public water supply. The report contains information on the sources of drinking water, the levels of any detected contaminants, and educational information regarding drinking water.

Compliance Assistance Efforts

The Drinking Water Branch currently assists public water supply owners and operators to promote compliance with the drinking water regulations. Assistance is provided through several activities, namely: site visits, correspondence, telephone contact (including the use of interactive voice response (IVR) and regular phone calls), e-mails, educational presentations and materials, and implementation of the small system laboratory assistance program (SSLAP) where IDEM provides free sampling for very small, nonprofit systems serving a population of one hundred (100) or less. Additionally, with RTCR, field staff are handling all the Level 2 Assessments and Capacity Development staff are helping systems with the Level 1 Assessments. Another way IDEM reduces sampling violations is by reminding all public water systems of their required monthly, quarterly, semi-annual, or annual sampling by utilizing the IVR system, which leaves automated messages indicating when their sampling requirements are due. Further, IDEM also uses e-mails (when available) as another way to notify systems of when sampling is due.

The following is a summary of the number of site visits and assistance efforts that were conducted in 2023 by the Drinking Water Branch staff:

Sanitary Surveys	1,082
Well Site Surveys	75
Technical Assistance Visits	287
Cap. Dev. Assistance Interactions	2,301
IVR Calls & E-mails	49,085

The Drinking Water Branch continues to provide assistance to all public water systems as a means to ensure drinking water is protective of human health.

For More Information

If you have any questions concerning this report or would like the lists of public water supplies that had violations in 2021, please contact the Drinking Water Branch at (317) 234-7430. Additional copies of this report are available on the Indiana Department of Environmental Management, Office of Water Quality, Drinking Water Branch web-site at: <http://www.in.gov/idem/cleanwater/2579.htm> or by calling the Drinking Water Branch at (317) 234-7430.

Additional information regarding the quality of your drinking water may be obtained by contacting your local public water supplier. Please contact your local public water supply for a copy of their latest consumer confidence report (CCR).

For more information regarding all aspects of the environment in Indiana, visit IDEM's website at: <http://www.in.gov/idem/>. Also, for general information regarding drinking water, you may contact the EPA Safe Drinking Water Hotline by calling (800) 426-4791.
