In 2005, the Indiana Office of Community and Rural Affairs was established as a separate state agency by the state legislature. OCRA's Executive Director is appointed by the Lt. Governor, who also serves as the Secretary of Rural Development.

OCRA works with local, state and national partners to provide resources and technical assistance to aid communities in shaping and achieving their vision for community and economic development. A privilege of our agency is to award grants to fund public gathering places, fix water/sewer infrastructures, restore historic structures, build community facilities, and revitalize commercial districts.

These funds help communities improve their quality of life and ensure the health and safety of their citizens.

FROM THE OCRA Director of Strategic Initiatives Andrea Kern

In my role as the Indiana Main Street Coordinator, I've had the privilege of spending the past year traveling across our beautiful state, meeting with countless small business owners who are the heart of our Main Streets. These dedicated individuals pour their passion, creativity, and hard work into their businesses, creating the unique charm and vitality that make our communities special.

When you're planning your holiday shopping, consider the local bookstore, the boutique down the street, or the family-owned café on the corner. These businesses aren't just stores; they are the heart of our communities, contributing to the local economy and fostering a sense of place.

Supporting them means more than just making a purchase—it means investing in the future of our Main Streets and ensuring that they remain vibrant for generations to come.

Warm Wishes,
Andrea Kern

MADISON

MAIN STREET

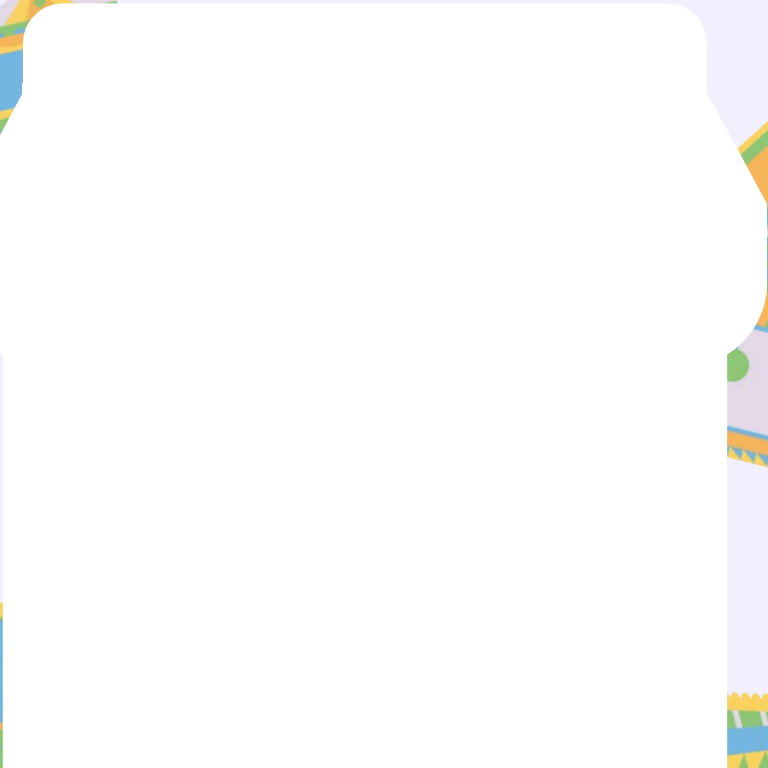

In 2024, Main Street America awarded Madison Main Street the prestigious Great American Main Street Award. A national jury of professionals and leaders in the fields of economic development and historic preservation selected Madison for this award. Madison Main Street was one of three communities selected to pilot the Main Street Program by the National Trust in 1979. Since 1979, Madison has seen an incredible transformation in their historical district following the Main Street America Four Point Approach regarding economic vitality, design, promotion and organization.

"The success of the Madison Main Street Program is a strong testament to the classic Main Street model and sustainable change over time," said Erin Barnes, President and CEO at Main Street America. "Their fearless dedication to nurturing historic preservation and tenacious drive to find creative solutions is unlocking the magic of Madison."
