South Eastern Indiana Natural Gas Co. Rate Case: Consumer Comments Invited

If you want to comment on South Eastern Indiana Natural Gas Company's proposed rate increase, you are invited to do so.

The Indiana Office of Utility Consumer Counselor (OUCC), the state agency representing consumer interests in cases before the Indiana Utility Regulatory Commission (IURC), is reviewing the utility's request and is scheduled to file its report and recommendations on Aug. 15, 2024.

Current base rates for South Eastern Indiana Natural Gas Co. – a natural gas utility providing service to more than 2,000 customers in Ripley and Dearborn counties - received IURC approval in 2018.

According to its filing, the utility is seeking the rate increase due to higher operating and maintenance costs, and to pay for infrastructure improvements including new meters, main replacements, automated pressure monitoring, improved mapping, and additional improvements. Its proposal would raise monthly residential bills as follows:

Monthly Usage	Current Gas Bill	Proposed Gas Bill
50 therms	$53.43	$68.81
70 therms	$66.26	$84.79
100 therms	$85.23	$108.38

Each residential gas bill includes a monthly $13.13 customer service charge which does not vary based on usage. It would rise to $18.00 under the utility's request. The remainder of the bill varies by customer usage.

Base distribution rates comprise approximately 34% of a typical residential Indiana Utilities Corp. customer's bill. They cover "non-gas" costs such as operating and maintenance expense and capital infrastructure improvements. The remaining 66% of a typical monthly bill pays for the natural gas itself, which the utility recovers on a dollar-for-dollar basis subject to OUCC review and IURC approval every three months.

South Eastern Indiana Natural Gas Co. has filed this case through the IURC's Small Utility Filing Procedure, which is designed to reduce the time and expense involved with regulatory filings for utilities with fewer than 8,000 customers. Savings are typically gained by allowing utility staff to use standardized forms and forego a technical evidentiary hearing. This is designed to result in utilities needing less assistance from rate consultants or attorneys, leading to fewer expenses to be passed on to customers.

The OUCC uses the same standard to review a utility's operations and records whether it seeks a rate increase through the Small Utility Filing Procedure or a traditional case. Conducting its analysis on behalf of all utility consumers, the OUCC will present the results of its review through a report to the IURC, including formal testimony. The IURC's review is conducted on behalf of the public interest (a balancing of utility and customer interests); it is responsible for resolving any factual disputes that may arise and issuing a final order establishing new rates.

A settlement agreement is possible in any legal proceeding; such an agreement, if reached, would require IURC approval.
