 - a) The following members were present in person: Joe Kapacinskas, Donna Norkus, David Phelps, Larry Stanton, Bob Young, and Greg Lyman. Ellen Hundt, Recording Secretary was also present in person and monitored the Teams Broadcast to the public.

5. New Business. Commissioner Norkus discussed meetings that had been held concerning the lakefront. Susan Loeb, from the Town Council also participated in the meetings and in this discussion. The Great Lakes and St Lawrence Cities Initiative (GLSCI) along with the Smith Group met with representatives of Beverly Shores to discuss possible projects on the lakefront based upon the Smith Group master report for the Town. The GLSCI had prepared two possible projects one for the east side and one for the middle of the Town. The commission members were asked to prioritize the two projects. GLSCI suggested that more funding would be available for the east side project since it contained multiple approaches. The east side project involves removal of the far east lakefront revetment and a return to the natural setting along the closed portion of the road that ends at Central Beach. Second, the protection of the section of the road from approximately Drake to Drexwood along with priority areas for upland dune/bluff restoration with integrated stormwater management strategies. Opportunities to create pocket beaches and streetside green infrastructure. Opportunities to create access points to the lakefront along with trails. Susan Loeb indicated that the representatives at the meeting prioritized the east end project because the variety of approaches made funding much more available. The GLCI suggested that Beverly Shores was ahead of many communities along the shores of the Great Lakes because it already had a study and plan in place and had already demonstrated the community resolve to work together in 2020 to save the road. It was felt that the GLSCI wished to use Beverly Shores as a model for projects for other communities and was trying to create a universal approach to similar issues throughout the great lakes. As a result, the GLSCI wanted some immediate feedback to meet internally to discuss options. Comments from the public were taken. The commission members unanimously felt that that east side project should be the first priority.

6. The next regularly scheduled meeting is June 5, 2023 which will be a public hearing for the proposed 2023 Comprehensive Plan
7. Commissioner Stanton moved to adjourn the meeting, Commissioner Kapacinskas seconded, a roll call vote was taken. The motion passed 7-0. The meeting adjourned at 7:50 pm.

Minutes of the May 1, 2023, meeting were reviewed. Commissioner Stanton moved to accept, seconded by Commissioner Blackburn. A roll call vote was taken. The motion passed 7-0.

3. Public Hearing concerning the proposed Comprehensive Plan.

Commissioner Lyman explained the Process:

- The Notice of Public Hearing was read, the Notice had been posted and published as required by Indiana Law and the Town Code.
- The date of the Public Hearing had been announced at the April meeting of the Plan Commission, the proposed plan was available for 60 days in the Clerk's office and had been posted on the Town's website for 60 days for review by all interested persons.
- The formal process of the Public Hearing was explained as required by Indiana Law and the Town Code.

The Participants who were involved in preparing the revision of the Comprehensive Plan from the 2012 Plan were discussed.

- The Plan Commission had started the review some 4 ½ years ago, not only the current membership was involved but 5 other members who were no longer on the commission.
- Public input had been sought both by written comments and by a town wide survey.
- The revisions were discussed in public meetings during that 4 ½ years. Numerous drafts and redrafts to the plan were discussed.

The Nature and Elements of the Comprehensive Plan were discussed.

- The state law requirements were read.
- In essence the Comprehensive Plan is the vision for the Town, including the Town History, the current conditions, and the priorities for the future, both short term and long term.

The History of the Town and Continuity of Plan Precepts were discussed.

- Modern day Beverly Shores began with the National Lakeshore bill in the 1960's where two thirds on the land was lost to the National Lakeshore
- It resulted in a unique physical environment for the Town as well as some unique challenges. The residential district is an "island" surrounded by the National Park and land locked. The commercial district and governmental district are totally separated from the residential district.
- The entire Town is within a mile of Lake Michigan and within a fragile dune and wetland environment.
- The 1978 Camiros-Frankel study was discussed that study became the foundation for the first comprehensive plan in 1982 and the restatement of the Town Ordinances in 1983.
- The continuity of plan precepts was established in that first plan and continued through the plans in 2003 and 2012, including:
 1. The Island would be limited to single-family low-density housing, 20,000 square foot minimum, with bulk restrictions.
 2. Wetland and Dune Topography protection as well as Site Review to protect the fragile environment.
 3. Encouraging appropriate and commercially viable business in the commercial district.
 4. To make police and fire protection a high priority.
 5. The 2003 plan added a Green Space initiative and established a drinking water system.
 6. The 2012 plan added steep slope protection and protection against short term rentals.
 7. The proposed 2023 Comprehensive Plan continues these plan precepts and makes 14 recommendations for the future of the Town including the Town Beaches and access to the beach, as well the growing issue of aging septic disposal systems in the Town.

The Public Hearing was opened.

Persons who spoke in favor of the proposed Comprehensive Plan:

- Mary Marvel
- Howard Marvel
- Barb Vanecko
- Dick Vanecko
- Kevin Fitzgerald
- Nina Diamond

- John Mackin
- John Nekus
- Sandy Komaskinski

Persons who spoke against the proposed Comprehensive Plan:

- Mike McCurdy
- Debbie Kleban

The Commissioners then had the opportunity to review the written comments submitted prior to the beginning of the hearing.

The Public Comment portion of the hearing was then closed.

The Commissioners each spoke discussing the contents of the proposed plan and many of the comments made during the public hearing. Among the comments:

- Commissioner Young stated that the Comprehensive plan results from a balancing act of the community's input and a balancing act between the commissioners to try to establish a roadmap for what is best for the community. He does not agree with every point, indeed it is likely no one will agree with every line or every point, but that is the process of balancing.
- Commissioner Blackburn stated that the commission took into account the community survey which again established the importance to the community of low density. He indicated that if the entire document is read it provides protection for property rights and protection for the community and the environment.
- Commissioner Stanton stated the commission reviewed the number of vacant possible building lots left within the residential district and the number was very small, some 25 sites, and many of these may not be buildable because of the high dunes, wetlands and other building obstacles. Since most new construction going forward will be modifications or teardowns it is very important to have enforcement of the current building code. The Town will never have adequate resources to accomplish all of its goals so it will have to prioritize and collaborate with groups within the town as well as the critical collaboration with the National Park in order to solve the large projects that will need to be taken on including the beaches and beach access. It is also central to this plan that there be accountability and regular review to measure progress and set priorities. He mentioned the plan does protect the interests and property rights of the residents and needs to be read as a whole and not as a piecemeal.
- Commissioner Phelps stated that the plan represented a balance of property rights with community and protection of the environment that brought most residents to Beverly Shores. It represents a roadmap for the future based upon the goals and concerns that the community sees at the present time. He addressed the assumption underlying a few of the comments concerning increasing the tax base. He explained that because of the formula utilized and the caps in place, increasing the tax base does not result in a corresponding increase in the tax revenue for the town. He further indicated that enforcement of the zoning code was critical to protect the and preserve the community.

- Commissioner Kapacinskaskas stated that he had listened to the concerns and points raised by those who submitted written comments and had participated in the hearing. He stated that many if not all of these concerns had been raised during the last three years and had been incorporated into the various drafts of the plan. The Town survey was given great emphasis in the preparation of the plan and the interests and rights of the residents had been incorporated into the plan.
- Commissioner Norkus stated that the Core Objectives in the beginning of the plan addressed many of the concerns expressed. One of the core values is to enhance the lives of residents and visitors, another maintaining low population density to protect the fragile dune environment. She read from the Town survey which found that some 91% of the responses indicated that low-density single-family housing was very important to them.
- Commissioner Lyman thanked all the community members who had participated in the comprehensive plan revision process and participated in the hearing. This participation is critical to help balance all the competing interests and make sure the plan reflects the communities' interests. He stated that the proposed plan did not change the balancing between the environment, community interests and homeowner interests, it was the same as found in the last three comprehensive plans dating back to 1982. He stated that steep slopes review and short-term rental restrictions had been in the prior plan. The steep slope ordinance had been revised in 2021 to make it more objective, if anything, it loosened the restrictions to make it easier to administer. There simply is no movement to impose further restrictions on homeowners and that the 2021 changes had been recommended to clarify, make the exiting limits easier to administer and enforce.

After each commissioner spoke, they were asked whether they wished to give further thought to the proposed plan or whether they were ready to vote. Each commissioner indicated they were ready to vote.

Commissioner Stanton moved to approve the proposed 2023 Comprehensive Plan, to forward the 2023 Comprehensive Plan to the Town Council for consideration and close the public hearing. Commissioner Kapacinskaskas seconded the motion. A roll call vote was taken. The motion passed 7-0.

4. The next regularly scheduled meeting is July 3, 2023.
5. Commissioner Young moved to adjourn the meeting, Commissioner Phelps seconded, a roll call vote was taken. The motion passed 7-0. The meeting adjourned at 8:15 pm.
